

Assignment:

Project yourself 20 years into the future and write an essay telling what you think your life story covering only the years since high school graduation would be. What successes and failures will you experience? What accomplishments will you be most proud of? How hard did you endeavor to achieve your status? Mention your major experiences and expectations. How long did it take to finish your college degree and what would you say to a youngster who is nervous about graduating from high school?

---

You may start typing here and you must type at least until no more lines can be fit on this page. You are allowed to use block, modified block or other formats for your response. Use the font and size provide (This is Arial 12).